TYPHOID OUTBREAK AT WOODMONT

Investigation of Epidemic-Eight Cases Reported

Something of a scare has been thown into the summer colony at Woodmont by the discovery of the outbreak there of an epidemic of typhoid fever. Eight cases of this dread malady have already been reported, which is considered quite alarming in connection with the population of the town, and the danger of its further spread is now being anxiously considered. Dr. Pitts, medical examiner for the town, admitted last night that he is examining the cases and investigating the matter, but would say nothing further regarding the outbreak. Serious afforts will be made to check the further development of the disease.
